

Republican Landslide

Will There Be a Log Cabin Party In 1916?

YES!

Republicans Gain 43 Seats in Congress

Sweeping G. O. P. Victory in New York, Collapse of Progressive Vote Everywhere, and Upheaval in "Rooster" Congressional Districts Indicate Tariff Had Big Effect on the Balloting.

C. S. Whitman's Lead Over Glynn Promises to be Record-Breaker.

NEW YORK—C. S. Whitman, (Rep.) elected Governor by more than 100,000 over Glynn (Dem.) J. W. Wadsworth (Rep.) elected Senator over Gerard.

PENNSYLVANIA—Boise Penrose (Rep.) re-elected Senator by overwhelming plurality; Pinchot (Prog.) runs third.

ILLINOIS—Roger Sullivan (Dem.) easy winner over Sherman (Rep.); Robins is third. Joe Cannon, W. B. McKinley and W. R. Mann, Republicans, elected to Congress.

INDIANA—B. F. Shively (Dem.) re-elected Senator over H. T. Miller (Rep.) and A. J. Beveridge (Prog.) Republicans elect Congressmen in two or three districts.

OHIO—W. G. Harding (Rep.) goes to Senate; race for Governor in doubt; woman suffrage and State-wide prohibition defeated.

TENNESSEE—Thomas D. Rye (Dem.) is elected Governor over Hooper (Rep.)

CONNECTICUT—F. B. Brandegee (Rep.) elected Senator over Baldwin.

CALIFORNIA—Hiram Johnson (Prog.) is easy victor for re-election as Governor; State-wide prohibition defeated.

Gains of forty-three seats made by the Republicans in the lower House threatened to reduce the Democratic majority to a minimum.

This is the outstanding feature of Tuesday's general election aside from which the significant development was the dwindling away of the strength of the Progressive party.

Returns from every section of the country indicate that the Progressives who cast a larger vote than the Republicans in 1912, have been absorbed in large part by that party. In almost every case there was a decisive falling off in the Progressive vote, with the conspicuous exception of California which has apparently re-elected Hiram Johnson, its Progressive Governor.

Republican Gains Everywhere

Republican gains were made in every section of the country, and leaders of that party asserted that the tariff issue has been instrumental in bringing about that result.

The result of State elections was less definite. In a number of cases Democratic administrations were overturned, but these were offset by instances in which the reverse was the case.

Republican leaders were elated, however, by the showing made in New York, where District Attorney Charles S. Whitman was elected to succeed Governor Glynn, the Democratic incumbent by what bid fair to be a record vote. As the late returns came in Mr. Whitman's plurality mounted steadily, and early Wednesday it was estimated that he would win by nearly 150,000.

In Pennsylvania there was a huge increase in the Republican vote.

Democrats Elected to Senate

Complete returns show the following Democrats elected to the Senate: Underwood, Alabama; Smith, Arizona; Clarke, Arkansas; Fletcher, Florida; Smith, (long term); Hardwick, (term ends 1919), both Georgia; Camden (term ends March 3, 1915) Kentucky; Broussard, Louisiana; Stone, Missouri; Overman, North Carolina; Gore, Oklahoma; Smith, South Carolina; Smith, Maryland.

Republican Senator Chosen

Complete returns show Republicans to the Senate.

B. Brandegee, Connecticut. Brady Idaho; Cummins, Iowa; Gallinger, New Hampshire; Wadsworth, New York; Gronna, North Dakota; Harding, Ohio; Penrose, Pennsylvania; Dillingham, Vermont.

According to the last returns, the results of the Senatorial contests were uncertain in California, Colorado, Kansas and Nevada.

Administration leaders expressed considerable concern over the indications in the early returns from Nevada. Altho no figures had been received reports were that Samuel Platt, Republican, had been elected to succeed Francis G. Newlands.

There also were early morning reports that Senator Lawrence Y. Sherman, of Illinois still had hopes that returns from some of the country districts of Illinois would overcome the lead of Roger Sullivan. Should it develop that Sullivan, Newlands and Thomas of Colorado would be defeated the Democratic majority in the Senate would be reduced to four. At an early hour Wednesday returns from the Congressional districts in many States were incomplete. Actual returns showed a Republican gain of 54 House seats, which would make a difference of 108 in the House majority, provided later returns should not develop Democratic gains. That would reduce the present Democratic majority of 141 to 33.

FOR THE BEST SHORTCAKE

Recipe From New England, Where It Is Said the Delicacy Was First Made.

It is said that strawberry shortcake originated in New England and wild strawberries were first used in it. If you have eaten such a shortcake, made where "the wild strawberries grow," you know how superior it is to the ordinary kind. However, we must content ourselves with cultivated berries. Reserve enough of the finest berries from two quarts to cover the top of your cake. Cut the remaining berries in half, or slice if large; sugar well and stand for an hour, at least. Make your cake with three parts of sifted pastry flour, three teaspoonfuls of cream of tartar and a teaspoonful of salt sifted in. Rub in two tablespoonfuls of butter and one of lard. Mix it with a pint of milk with a teaspoonful of soda dissolved in it. Three teaspoonfuls of baking powder may replace the cream of tartar and soda. Roll or pat out half an inch thick, and bake in either one or two cakes in a quick oven for fifteen or twenty minutes. Split the cake open—do not cut it—as soon as baked, as cutting while hot will make it heavy. Butter both top and bottom portions and spread each with a thick layer of berries; put together and serve with good rich cream—plain. Use whipped cream only for sweet strawberry cake.

FOR BUSY HOUSEWIVES

Knives which have been used for onions and small of them can be cleaned by drawing them through a piece of carrot two or three times.

To remove hot-water marks from jarred trays use sweet oil. Rub it in well till all marks disappear, then polish the tray with dry flour and a soft cloth.

When gilt frames or molding of rooms have specks of dirt from flies and other causes upon them they may be cleaned with white of egg applied with a camel-hair brush.

Peel onions from the root upward and they will not make your eyes smart.

Save cold tea left from supper and use in place of water on your house plants.

Starch should be mixed with soapy water, for thus the linen will have a more glossy appearance and be less likely to stick to the iron.

Silver teaspoons that have not been used for some time get musty and so give a peculiar flavor. This can be prevented by putting a lump of sugar into the pot before putting away.

Poor Man's Mushrooms.

Radishes have always been considered good only to eat raw. Try the following when mushrooms are at a premium. Peel and slice large radishes, and when you put your steak in the pan turn in the sliced radishes and allow them to cook in the juice of the steak until quite brown. Before taking them out put in a generous piece of butter. Season with salt and pepper. They can hardly be detected from the real article.

Radishes are always very good when boiled as turnips. Boil until very soft, season, mash and cream—Delicately.

Cornstarch Flg Pudding.

Three cupfuls milk, one-half cupful cornstarch, one-fourth cupful sugar, one-fourth level teaspoonful salt, whites two eggs, six figs sliced and cut in small pieces. Beat the milk in double boiler. Mix cornstarch, sugar and milk. Add to the hot milk and stir until thick and smooth. Add the figs, cover and cook for 20 minutes, stirring occasionally. Beat the whites of eggs stiff and add the hot mixture gradually, beating it in. Pour into mold wet with cold water and chill. Serve with cream. May be served hot if desired.

Scalloped Mutton.

Cut cold mutton into thin little pieces. For each cupful of meat add one-half teaspoonful of salt and bit of pepper. Butter a baking dish, cover bottom with bread crumbs, then a layer of meat, with a little gravy or tomato sauce. Continue until dish is full. Cover top with thin slices of raw potato, dot with butter, cover close and bake 45 minutes; uncover and brown 15 minutes.

Baked Sliced Ham.

Place in baking pan a slice of ham cut one inch thick; if the ham is not mild it should be soaked in cold water an hour. Sprinkle on top a little powdered mustard, two tablespoonfuls brown sugar, two tablespoonfuls vinegar, add little water and bake about forty minutes, basting often. Add a little boiling water to the gravy, but do not thicken.

Sausage Sandwiches.

Put small sausages on a baking dish and set in a hot oven. Turn occasionally until brown on all sides. Cool slightly and split lengthwise with a sharp knife. Butter a thin slice of brown bread lightly, lay on a crisp lettuce leaf, then the sausage and last another slice of bread.

Grapefruit Salad.

To use grapefruit as a salad remove the pulp from the rind and add to lettuce leaves with chopped nuts or celery. Serve with either mayonnaise or French dressing.

Arrowroot for Fruit Juices.

Use arrowroot to thicken fruit juices. It cooks clearly and does not destroy the color, nor cloud the transparency of the fruit.

BLUE GRASS BAPTISTS

Many Delegates Attend Meeting of the B. Y. P. U.

Lexington, Ky.—The convention of the Baptist Young People's Union of the Blue Grass was held here.

This Union includes all of the various Baptist church clubs throughout the Blue Grass and many members of these were present.

Dr. H. L. Winburn, of Louisville, was the principal speaker, making the chief address of the morning session, when he spoke on "Has the B. Y. P. U. Made Good?" and the leading address of the evening service when he spoke on "A Worthy Program for the B. Y. P. U." Others taking part in the program were Rev. J. W. Porter, Dr. O. E. Mangum, Rev. Mr. Bowden, Dr. C. Carroll, Rev. E. W. Coakley, Dr. C. W. Elsey, Dr. B. A. Daws, Dr. O. O. Green and others.

PROMINENT EDUCATORS

Will Attend Kentucky Association Meeting Next Spring.

Louisville, Ky.—Plans for the meeting of the Kentucky Educational association, to be held in Louisville April 21, 22, 23 and 24, were formed by the directors. The following directors were present: W. P. King, of Newport, president of the association; H. H. Cherry, of Bowling Green; J. W. Ireland, of Bellevue; W. O. Hopper, of Mt. Sterling, and Secretary T. W. Vinson.

WANT FIVE THOUSAND HORSES.

Indiana Company Wants Horses For French Government.

Paducah, Ky.—After making a contract with local horse dealers for 1,000 horses suitable for French cavalry service in the European war, Messrs. Darnell and Campbell, buyers for the Indiana Horse Co., left for Memphis, Tenn., to place a similar contract. The horses must be fifteen to sixteen hands high, weigh between 950 and 1,200 pounds and be from 5 to 9 years old. The maximum price was fixed at $145. The company has a contract to furnish the French government 5,000 horses immediately. The buyers came here from Louisville, where they made a contract for 1,000 horses.

COLLEGE BUILDING DEDICATED.

Synodical Meeting Closes a Three Days' Convention at Danville.

Danville, Ky.—The 117th state synodical meetings of the Presbyterian church concluded its three days' session here. The Rev. H. S. Murdoch, of Buckhorn, was elected moderator.

Two new buildings erected for the Kentucky College for Women costing approximately $100,000, were dedicated with impressive ceremonies. The dedicatory address was delivered by Dr. James E. Clark, of Nashville, Tenn., a member of the national college board of colleges and representative of the southern states on that board.

FEROCIOUS WILDCAT IS KILLED.

Overcomes Six Hounds Before It Gives Up Life.

Versailles, Ky.—After an all-night chase, with a pack of eight hounds, Frank Matthews and Clark Simpson captured and killed a large wildcat in the Kentucky river cliffs, near Clifton, this county. The animal put up a game fight, whipping six of the dogs, and swam the river twice before it was finally conquered. This is the first time a wildcat has been seen in this county in a great number of years.

PARIS WATER COMPANY SUED.

Paris, Ky.—Suits to the amount of about $17,000 were filed in circuit court against the Paris Water Co., a foreign-owned corporation. The suits are the result of the destructive fire a few weeks ago, in which the Stivers Lumber Co. and the establishment of T. J. Flora & Co. were destroyed. The plaintiffs allege that on account of the low pressure of water given by the company their property was destroyed.

OUTLOOK IS REPORTED BETTER.

Henderson, Ky.—Prospects are becoming brighter for an early sale of tobacco at good prices in the "Dark Belt." The quality is so good and the crop so short it is believed by tobacco men that these conditions will more than overcome the effect that the war may have had on the local market.

"DRY" SCORE POINT IN COURT.

FIND HOOKWORM IN LETCHER.

Whitesburg, Ky.—Dr. L. A. Shirley, hookworm specialist of Winchester, with his assistants, Messrs. Virginia James and Rubye Allen, of Bowling Green, conducted their final hookworm clinic at Mayking and went to Whitesburg, where they closed the campaign. Dr. Shirley says that he is confident that their investigations will show that at least 60 per cent of the people of Letcher county are affected with hookworm.

USEFULNESS WILL BE INCREASED

DR. CASTLE HOPEFUL THAT EXPERIMENT STATION WORK CAN BE EXTENDED.

CO-OPERATION WILL BE URGED

Conduct Experiments on Life and Growth of Crops and Get the Results to the Farmer.

Western Newspaper Union News Service, Lexington, Ky.—"The usefulness of the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station will be greatly increased, and the day of its greatest usefulness greatly hastened through the co-operation of such a department as you propose to organize in connection with the new board of commerce," said Dr. J. H. Kastle, director of the Experiment Station, in discussing the advantages to accrue from the new business organization to be established.

Continuing, Dr. Kastle said: "As it is conceived to-day, the mission of the Agricultural College, of which the Experiment Station forms a part, is threefold: First, having for its object to instruct the youth of the country in modern, up-to-date methods and operations of agriculture; second, to conduct such experiments on the life and growth of crops and farm animals as will ultimately contribute to the progress and development of our agriculture in all of its phases, and third, to disseminate the results of the knowledge gained by such experiment station through any and all channels in order that they may quickly reach the farmer.

THE 1914 TOBACCO CROP

In the Green River District Will Be Readily Sold.

Owensboro, Ky.—Speculation as to what disposition will be made of the 1914 crop of tobacco grown throughout the Green river district has been rife for the past few weeks, and much anxiety has been felt by the farmers as to the effects the war in Europe would have on the market for the weed, but since it has been definitely learned that the loose leaf warehousemen have been advancing money on the year's crop it is felt that Owensboro's four loose leaf houses will open for business and the crop sold. While the advances being made are not liberal, it is taken as an indication that the crop will be purchased by the tobaccoists despite the unrest in the foreign countries.

RECEIVED MYSTERIOUS PACKAGE

Recipient Believes It May Be Infernal Machine.

Covington, Ky.—The police of this city are investigating the discovery of an alleged infernal machine discovered on the porch of the home of Leslie Applegate, former commonwealth's attorney of Kenton county. Applegate's son found a package on the porch labeled "Open at this end." He turned the package over to the police when he saw black matter that looked to him like powder on the string that fastened it.

BAPTISTS MEET AT SOMERSET.

Somerset, Ky.—The General Association of Kentucky Baptists will convene in annual session in this city November 8 to 13, and already residents here are arranging for one of the largest crowds in the history of this city. Arrangements are being made to entertain between 300 and 500 messengers.

TYPHOID FEVER IS REPORTED.

Elkton, Ky.—An epidemic of typhoid fever is prevalent in the Clayman neighborhood, six miles north of this place. So far there has been only one death, that of Albert Lee Hurt, 12-year-old son of A. H. Hurt. Physicians are unable to account for the prevalence of the disease there.

LITTLE CHILD BURNED TO DEATH

Columbia, Ky.—At Kemp, Adair county, an infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Gathier Judd was playing in front of an open fireplace, its parents being out of the room, when its clothing became ignited and the child was burned to death before assistance could reach it.

CAPT. GEO. M. CHESHIRE RESIGNS

Frankfort, Ky.—Capt. George M. Cheshire, Company A, First Infantry, K. N. G., Louisville, has sent his resignation to Adj. Gen. J. Tandy Ellis. An election for his successor will be held.

FRENCH STUD FOR KENTUCKY.

Lexington, Ky.—August Belmont proprietor of the Nursery Stud here announced that he would close his horse breeding establishment in France and transfer all his noted stallions and broodmares here. Belmont's manager, Edward Kane, said the action was taken because war has made racing uncertain in France for years to come. The plant to be transported here includes some of the most famous horses in the world.

GAME IN EACH COUNTY

EXTRA PRECAUTIONS TO ENFORCE OBSERVANCE OF LAWS DURING OPEN SEASON.

PATROLED BY TWO WARDENS

Act Directly Under Instruction From the State Game and Fish Commission.

(Special Frankfort Correspondence.) Frankfort.—Every county in Kentucky will be patrolled by two game wardens, acting directly under instructions from the game and fish commission, from November 8 until January 1, when the game season will close. The season will open November 15. Executive Agent J. Q. Ward, who has just appointed 30 district wardens, with directions to select a warden in every county where there is none now, will call into co-operation to prevent hunting out of season or without a license and market hunting every available agency. He is sending notices for publication in every county paper, advising hunters of the action of the department; he is calling hunters and hunting clubs to assist, and the wardens have directions to call on the county judges, sheriffs and county attorneys to assist them.

These wardens will go horseback or in buggies and their visitations will be without warning. Instructions as to the character of their duties and the way they are to perform them are explicit.

Market hunters and those who hunt out of season or without a license are the particular objects of this surveillance. Sunday violators and trespassers must be handled by the local authorities, and wardens are instructed to inform landowners who ask them to arrest such violators that they should go to their county authorities.

Mr. Ward said the successful work of the department last year in the fight against market hunting, followed by a dry, good breeding season, has made game birds plentiful this fall, and if the hunters co-operate with the department the sport will be unusually good.

Hear Grain Rate Case.

Evidence intended to secure a reduction of Louisville & Nashville grain rates between Eminence and Louisville was presented to the Kentucky railroad commission, at Louisville, by Eminence Milling Co. The commission will hear complaints of E. H. Taylor & Sons Distilling Co. and the Kentucky Distilleries & Warehouse Co. against the same road. Evidence adduced by the milling company showed that the rate on wheat from Louisville to Eminence is 3 cents, while corn, rye and malt go for 6 cents. It also showed that the rate of wheat from Eminence to Louisville was only 7 cents. The three concerns are seeking reparation of approximately $60,000, of which amount $29,000 is sought by the Kentucky Distilleries & Warehouse Co.

Good Roads Movement.

Calls on the state department of roads for speakers at good roads meetings, school fairs and rallies in the interest of road bond issues are becoming more numerous. M. D. Rosa spoke at Union, Boone county, in the interest of a bond issue, and R. H. Reese spoke at Olive Hill in the interest of the Carter county bond issue of $150,000. Commissioner R. C. Terrell spoke at a school fair at Bardston, Harrison county has applied for state aid in the construction of one of its principal pikes.

Ben Hur Gets Reversal.

The Supreme Tribe of Ben Hur won on appeal from the Jefferson circuit court in the suit of the Rosa Cosgrove, who recovered $2,000, the amount of a policy on the life of her brother, John T. Cosgrove, in that order. The order contested the claim on account of statements made in regard to his health and an affidavit as to his health made when he was reinstated. The case was reversed for error in refusing to admit testimony. Chief Justice Hobson wrote the opinion.

State to be Center.

Kentucky is to become the center of the Hereford cattle industry, due to the enterprise of Col. E. M. Taylor, Jr., of Frankfort, in the opinion of the expert, writing for the Livestock World, of Chicago, who says that Kentucky contains every element necessary to that end, and sees in the discriminating buying of the best of this breed in the land by Col. Taylor, a determination on his part to be the deciding factor in Hereford breeding.

Lower Court Reversed.

In an opinion by Chief Justice Hobson the court of appeals reversed the Jefferson circuit court in the case of the Western Union against T. C. Cammiser & Sons, who recovered $200 damages because a telegram to a person in Alabama quoted the price of baskets of o. b. bars at St. Louis instead of Louisville, as it was written, and the party did not make an offer to buy. The court held that the telegram contained "no offer, direction or proposition to do or not to do a certain thing."

46TH ANNUAL MEETING OF NATIONAL AMERICAN WOMAN SUFFRAGE ASSOCIATION

Members From All Parts of United States Will Be in Nashville, Tenn., on November 10 and 11—Many Prominent Women Leaders Will Be in Attendance.

ORGANIZED IN 43 STATES

Suffragists from all parts of the United States will arrive in Nashville, Tennessee, on November 10 and 11, for the Forty-sixth Annual Convention of the National American Woman Suffrage Association, and the delegates will represent over sixty branches of the association which have been organized in forty-three states. There will be women prominent socially, in the professions and in all kinds of reform work. Some of the delegates will come from equal suffrage states, and they will tell the result of votes for women from personal experience.

Among them will be Jane Addams, of Hull House, who is now an Illinois voter; Mrs. Mary C. C. Bradford, Superintendent of Public Instruction of Colorado; Miss Helen Eaker, of Kansas; Mrs. Frances Munds, of Arizona, and Mrs. Catherine Vaughn McCullough, of Chicago, well-known as a lawyer and justice of the peace. The most interesting women voters, because they will be brand new ones, will come from states where suffrage amendments are to be voted on November 3d. These states are Montana, Nevada, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Missouri and Ohio. Miss Anne Martin, President of the Nevada Equal Franchise Association, writes that she can not miss the National Convention, but, on the other hand, how can she leave Nevada until all the returns are in, and it usually takes a week to know results there.

Miss Jane Addams, First Vice President National American Woman Suffrage Association.

The principal roles in Miss Olive Wyndham, Miss Katherine Kaefer, leading lady in "Joseph and His Brethren," Sydney Booth, of "The Yellow Ticket," company, nephew of Edwin Booth, and Dr. Anna Howard Shaw.

Nashville is said to be so enthusiastic over entertaining the convention that it will grudge the time necessarily devoted to business sessions. Nashville women are arranging a parade, also an afternoon barbecue at Andrew Jackson's home, "The Hermitage," called the Mount Vernon of the South. There will be courses, but many informal dinners and luncheons during the convention, and an afternoon tea at one of the beautiful country clubs. On one evening the suffragists in charge of the press work throughout the country will dine and discuss plans for the coming year. Another evening the professional women at the convention will meet at dinner. The professional women's dinner arranged by Dr. Elias Taylor, Ransom of Boston, during last year's Washington convention, was a great success, the guests including many of the best-known ministers, doctors and lawyers in the United States.

But it is not so much the special events which make a convention interesting as it is the general comradeship and interchange of ideas among women from all parts of the country engaged in all kinds of work. The women of the north and west are especially interested in the brilliant Southern women who are giving their time and energies so fully to woman suffrage. Among these women are Virginia—Mrs. Lila Leavelle, President of the Virginia Equal Suffrage Association; Miss Ellen Glasgow, Richmond; Mrs. Kate Walter Barrett, Alexandria, Virginia; North Carolina—Mrs. A. Henderson, Chapel Hill, President of the Equal Franchise League; Miss Anna Forbes Liddell, Charlotte; Mrs. Susanne Bynum, Charlotte; South Carolina—Mrs. M. C. Coleman, Columbia; President of the Equal Suffrage League; Mrs. Henry Martin, Columbia; Miss Susan Frost, Charleston; Georgia—Mrs. Mary McLeod, Atlanta, President of the Georgia Woman's Suffrage Association; Mrs. Emily McDougall, Atlanta, President Equal Suffrage Party; Florida—Mrs. Roselle C. Cooley, Jacksonville, President of Equal Franchise Association; Rev. Mary Safford, Orlando, President Florida Woman Suffrage Association; Miss Frances Anderson, Jacksonville, Alabama; Mrs. Patti Jacobson, Birmingham; Mrs. Oscar Hundley, Birmingham; Mrs. S. B. Stern, Montgomery; Mississippi—Mrs. Annie K. Dent, Yazoo City, President of the Woman Suffrage Association; Mrs. Nellie Nugent Somerville, Greenville; Mrs. Pauline Orr, Jacksonville; Louisiana—Mrs. Maria Thompson Davies, Nashville; Mrs. Sarah Barnwell Elliott, Sewanee; Mrs. Crozier French, Knoxville; Kentucky—Mrs. Dusha, Breckinridge; President of the Kentucky Equal Rights Association; Miss Laura Clay, Richmond; Mrs. James Leavelle, Louisville; Mrs. Miss Kate Gordon, New Orleans, President of the Southern States Woman Suffrage Conference; Miss Jean Gordon, New Orleans, President of the Louisiana Woman Suffrage Association; Mrs. Edgar M. Cahn, New Orleans; Miss Annette Pinnehan, Houston, President of Texas Woman Suffrage Association; Miss Eleanor W. Brackenridge, San Antonio; Mrs. Hortense Ward, Dallas; Mrs. Guilford Dudley, Nashville.

The rapid growth of the Southern organizations both in members and enthusiasm is alone sufficient to contradict the prediction, which was made so frequently, that the South would never endorse votes for women. In fact, it was generally said that the coming year would be the year of the Southern woman, and that the presence of so many charming, alert Southern women was the most inspiring thing about the Convention. Nashville has, as well as the organized suffragists of Tennessee, is prepared to give a warm welcome to the women who are leaving their homes and their jobs to work in order to take counsel together for the coming year. The city officers, the Chamber of Commerce, the Business Men's Association, and the newspapers are all co-operating to furnish a warm welcome to the Convention. The program for the Convention is in charge of the following Committee: Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, Louisville, Pa., chairman; Mrs. Mary Ware Dennett, the first woman to be elected Secretary of the National American Woman Suffrage Association; Mrs. Ida Clara Clarke, Nashville; Miss Jean Gordon, New Orleans; Miss Edna Byrne, New York; Mrs. Ernest Thompson-Sutton, of Connecticut, is the National chairman of local arrangements, and Mrs. John N. Kenney, of Nashville, is the chairman of local arrangements. Convention headquarters will be at the Hermitage Hotel.

Importance of Healthy Kidneys

Barbourville Readers Should Learn to Keep The Kidneys Well.

The kidneys have a big work to do. All the blood in the body is coursing through the kidneys constantly to be freed of poisonous matter. It is a heavy enough task when the kidneys are well, but a cold, chill, fever or some thoughtless exposure is likely to irritate, inflame and congest the kidneys and interrupt the purifying work.

Then the aching frequently begins, and is often accompanied by some irregularity of the urine—too frequent passages, sediment or retention. Thousands testify to the wonderful merit of Doan's Kidney Pills, a remedy for the kidneys only, that has been used in kidney troubles 50 years. You will make no mistake in following this advice. It comes from a resident of this locality:—Mrs. Mollie Shell, Cumberland Ave., Pineville, Ky., says "No other kidney remedy is as good as Doan's Kidney Pills. I gladly recommend them. My kidneys were weak and their action was irregular. I had severe backaches and at times was nervous and dizzy. I felt listless and in the morning, I was all tired out. Doan's Kidney Pills relieved me as soon as I began using them and before long I felt stronger and better in every way."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn & Co., Buffalo, New York sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's Kidney Pills—and take no other—the same that Mrs. Shell had.—Advertisement.

BASKET BALL

The first game of the season was played at the new Gymnasium on Tuesday night, Nov. 3, between the Town Team and the Union College team, resulting in a score of 44 to 18 in favor of the Town. The Union College boys put up a game fight and they have a nice team, but were unable to compete with the big husky bunch from the town. The College team is a fast bunch of youngsters and they have good prospects for a team. The Town team has only been practicing a few days and are not in good condition as yet. The lineup was as follows:—

TOWN	Position	UNION
Lambdin	right forward	Young
Simms	center	Williams
Jones	right guard	King
Faulkner	left guard	Haggard
Dickinson

Field goals:—Simms 15. Lambdin 2. Wesley 3. Trospier 5. Young 2. Foul goals:—Lambdin, 2 out of 6. Wesley, 2 out of 8. Young 2 out of 6. Trospier 2 out of 3.

FOREST NOTES.

Because of the drouth conditions there is considerable fire danger in the forests of the east this fall.

Pennsylvania and New Jersey lead all other states in the quantity of wood used for making tobacco pipes, and utilize apple wood, French brier, ebony, birch, red gum and olive wood.

Cherry is the wood most used as a backing for the metal plates from which illustrations are printed in magazines and periodicals. It is chosen above all others because it holds its shape, does not warp or twist, works smoothly and does not split.

Two governors, those of Oregon and Massachusetts, have suspended the hunting season this year because of increased danger of forest fires when the woods were exceptionally dry.

The position of city forester is now offering a new field for men with a technical training in forestry, Fitchburg, Massachusetts, is one of the latest towns to secure an official of this sort.

Because of extreme drouth, the fire risks on the national forests in the Northwest have been greater this season than in any other since 1910, the worst year since the forests were created. Much less damage was done this year because experience in fire fighting was gained in the fires of 1910.

Kentucky Man Tells How Mayr Stomach Remedy Restored Wife

Mrs. W. H. Clarke Is Relieved After Years of Digestive Disorders.

Mrs. W. H. Clarke, of Central City, Ky., for many years suffered from disorders of the stomach. She tried many treatments with but little encouragement.

Mr. Clarke induced her to try Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy. She got results right away. Then he wrote:

"The medicine has done my wife a world of good, and I feel that it will cure her. I intend to keep on until she is completely cured, you have been doing her more good than anyone has done her. and she has been suffering with her stomach for years. I am glad I was told of your remedy."

Letters like that are written by users of Mayr's Wonderful Stomach

Remedy in all parts of the country. It proves its merit with the first dose—no long treatment.

Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy clears the digestive tract of mucoid accretions and removes poisonous matter. It brings swift relief to sufferers from ailments of the stomach, liver and bowels. Many declare it has saved them from dangerous operations and many are sure it has saved their lives.

Because of the remarkable success of this remedy there are many imitators, so be cautious. Be sure it's MAYR'S. Go to Herndon Drug Co. drug store and ask about the wonderful results it has been accomplishing—or send to Geo. H. Mays, Mfg. Chemists 154-156 Whiting St., Chicago, Ill., for free book on Stomach ailments and many grateful letters from people who have been restored. Any druggist can tell you its wonderful effects.

SUNDAY SCHOOL DAY IS URGED

STATE-WIDE PROHIBITION IN 1916 AND NATION-WIDE IN 1920 IS ENDORSED.

GOLDEN JUBILEE IN YEAR 1915

Forty-Ninth Association Adjourns After Holding Interesting Meeting in Lexington.

Western Newspaper Union News Service. Lexington, Ky. — Go-To-Sunday-School Sunday will be observed throughout Kentucky Sunday, April 25, if the tentative selection of this date which was made here at the Kentucky Sunday-school association is confirmed by the executive committee which meets in Louisville in January. A resolution declaring this observance a permanent institution of the association was adopted unanimously at a session of the association. This day was first observed in Kentucky last May 3, the first Sunday in that month, when it was estimated by the Sunday-school association officials that 675,000 persons attended Sunday-school, the largest known number attending Sunday-school on one day in the state before that time being 300,000. Gov. James H. McCreary issued an official proclamation calling on the people of the state to attend the Sunday-school of their choice that day, and Secretary Joplin, with whom the idea originated, received a telegram from President Wilson endorsing the move. It was the first time in the history of the nation such a feat had ever been attempted, but since then five states have taken up the idea.

TRADE IN NEW SOUTH

Completion of the Tunnel Through "Breaks" Opens Territory.

Louisville, Ky. — For over a quarter of a century the Big Sandy country of Eastern Kentucky has been recognized, in a general way, as a wonderfully rich in possibilities for development and the creation of wealth. And as far back as the '70s it was looked upon, in some quarters, as offering the most practicable route for transportation lines between the north and the south—between the Ohio Valley and Lake cities and the South Atlantic seaboard. It was to have been the course of the much-heralded "C. C."—the Charleston, Cincinnati and Chicago—railroad promoted over thirty years ago; and, besides, many other railway enterprises have been projected which would pass through the "Breaks" at the head of the valley and into Virginia and the South. The net result of all these plans is being accomplished in this year of 1914.

The mountains of Eastern Kentucky and Virginia which form the watershed of the Big Sandy Valley contain the greatest reserves of undeveloped bituminous steam, domestic and coking coal known to exist in the world. For while splendid mining operations have been established in the valley and at points tributary to it both in Kentucky and Virginia, the production of coal in the region is yet relatively small, and only by competing it with other mining regions is it possible to partly visualize the scenes of industrial activity fast coming on in this wonderful region.

COURT PROVIDES ANTITOXIN.

Hickman, Ky. — On account of their being a few cases of diphtheria in Fulton and one death near Hickman, the fiscal court has agreed to furnish free of charge to any person of this county not financially able to stand the expense themselves all diphtheria antitoxin needed, so that every one may be equally protected and to prevent the spread of this disease. County Health Officer Dr. H. E. Prather was instructed to keep a supply on hand.

TO HOLD FARMERS' INSTITUTE.

Greensburg, Ky. — The officers of the Green County Farmers' Institute, of which former Senator S. T. Gurin is president, have been notified by Commissioner J. W. Newman that the annual institute for Green county will be held at Greensburg November 4 and 5. A unique feature will be premiums for the best papers on subjects discussed at the institute, the papers to be written by children of the public schools of the county.

NEW CORN OFFERED ON MARKET.

Hickman, Ky. — New corn is already arriving on the local markets, although there has been no frost as yet. This new corn is bringing $3.40 a barrel, or 50 cents a bushel.

A NEW INSPECTION ORDINANCE.

Louisville People Should Demand Measure Says Pure Food Expert.

Lexington, Ky. — R. M. Allen, head of the Kentucky Pure Food and Drug Department, has returned from Louisville, where he went to investigate conditions since the recent meat scandal, which has created such an uproar. Mr. Allen said that an ordinance had been presented to the City Council which it is thought, will relieve the situation.

VARIOUS FISH RECIPES

DIFFERENT FROM THE ORDINARY METHODS OF SERVING.

Boiled and Served Cold, With a Dressing. Makes Ideal Summer Dish—Dutch Method of Cooking Salmon Is Said to Be Good.

A mayonnaise dressing seasoned with chopped gherkins, capers and parsley and served ice cold, with an equally cold boiled fish, is an ideal stand for a summer luncheon or dinner.

When fish is to be baked, wipe it with a damp cloth and trim the fins and the tail. Lay it in the pan and pour about it a quart of sliced tomatoes, mixed with a small onion and a tiny piece of garlic, chopped very fine. Season with salt and pepper and over the top sift fine breadcrumbs, dotted with bits of butter. Bake a five-pound fish half an hour.

A dressing for a baked fish of medium size is made by browning slightly a cupful of dry crumbs with a tablespoonful of butter. Moisten them slightly with a little water—a dressing for fish or poultry should not suggest a poultice—and season with salt, pepper and onion juice or sweet herbs. Fill the inside of the fish and lay a few slices of salt pork under it. Season with salt and pepper and sprinkle with flour.

Select a middle cut that weighs five or six pounds and put it in a stew pan with white vinegar, a dozen pepper corns, two sliced onions, a bunch of parsley and enough cold water to cover the whole. Cover with a sheet of buttered paper and simmer one hour. Drain, garnish with fresh parsley and serve with a white sauce.

Black bass stewed in American fashion is a most delicious fish. Put three fish of good size in a buttered sauce pan, with a teaspoonful of salt, one tablespoonful of black pepper, a dash of cayenne, two small onions chopped fine, half a pint of catfish wine, half a pint of tomatoes, a pint of white sauce and a bunch of parsley. Let it cook slowly half an hour, closely covered; then remove the fish, skin out the parsley, lift out the fish and add to the sauce a tablespoonful of butter and the juice of one lemon. If the sauce is too thick, thin down a little with boiling water.

A fine flavor is given to broiled fish by laying it, an hour before cooking, in a glass of olive oil, seasoned with lemon juice, salt and pepper. If oil is disliked use melted butter. Smelts, mackerel, fresh herring, brook trout and shad are especially good when cooked in this way. Salmon steaks laid in this preparation half an hour, and then dipped in beaten egg and rolled in bread crumbs before frying, are very good. Small potato balls with a tartar sauce or green peppers, stuffed and chopped cucumbers or tomatoes are appetizing with any kind of fish.

Emergency Pudding Sauce.

If you should discover five minutes before dinner time that you had made no sauce for plum pudding, or similar puddings, try this. Put one tablespoonful of good brandy and half a teaspoonful of granulated or pulverized sugar into five cents' worth of cream. Stir well together. Turn the lid of the saucepan in which the pudding is boiling upside down and set the pitcher or little saucepan containing the sauce on it. By the time the first course of the dinner is finished the sauce will be heated through. It will be found excellent and enough for four persons.

Onions With Cheese.

This is a dish especially good for a cold night supper. Cook sufficient onions for the number to partake; drain them and place a layer of the cooked onion in a buttered baking dish, pour over a half cupful of rich white sauce, sprinkle generously with cheese, and repeat with another layer of the onions, white sauce and cheese. Put into the oven and serve when well heated through.—Christian Science Monitor.

To Sweeten Butter.

To sweeten butter that has turned a little, place the butter in a porcelain dish with a little salt and a tiny pinch of baking soda. Place over the fire and let it boil. Then turn it into a stone jar and put in a cold place. When treated in this manner the butter will be found perfectly sweet when cold and not too salty for cooking purposes. The impurities will settle at the bottom of the jar.

Strainer for Sink Pail.

A sink pail has a strainer lid into which soap and refuse can be poured to drain and then dumped into the pail by simply closing the lid down over it. It is of galvanized metal and of convenient size.

To Clean Iron Sink.

To clean an iron sink and keep from rusting rub with a cloth (coarse preferred) and kerosene until clean, and wipe dry with a soft cloth. Two or three times a week ought to be enough.

To Keep Fish From "Sticking."

No matter how much dripping is used, fish when being fried, is apt to stick to the pan's bottom. A tablespoonful of dry salt rubbed over the pan will prevent this.

PRETTY THINGS FOR SUMMER

For furnishing the summer home cretonne table covers and pillows of oblong, round, square and roll shapes are new. Patterns have white or natural grounds, with bright floral designs for the various accessories for the summer home. Other cretonne sets have the flowered fabric combined with a band across each article of heavy flit or cluny insertion, or hand-crocheted insertion. Table scarfs, cushion covers, bags of various shapes and sizes and dresser covers in cretonne with red, pink or delft blue designs, and ivory or natural flit lace are finished with a tidy braid of passementerie having a fringe.

Art rep in natural shades forms an artistic cushion cover edged with a beading and fringe of a deeper shade than the goods. The design consists of graceful scrolls and long sprays of tinted leaves. Beautiful samples of stamped goods in rep and rough and smooth linen have unusual scrolls, large flowers, fruit, etc. French knots, satin and stem stitches are worked with large silks. Dainty samples have rosebuds in stripes on English-looking trellises.

Much cluny lace is used with white linen. Net motifs on linen pieces are new. The work is done through the net, which is basted on and the linen cut away, leaving the net parts sheer.

Luncheon sets made of Japanese toweling are quaint and effective. Narrow widths of this material are fastened together with edges hem-stitched. They are especially attractive for outdoor or porch use or summer cottage purposes. Sets can also be made from Japanese cotton crepe, which comes by the yard, edged with a narrow gimp in white and dark blue.

SUMMER CURTAINS OF NET

Wide Variety Is Offered, and Prices Are Not Beyond Reach of Moderately Filled Purse.

In selecting made curtains in pairs, it is difficult to keep to the ideal of simplicity for the summer home, for the designs lead by insidious gradations from the plain bobbinet to most elaborate curtains of imported, hand-made lace. To begin with, there are the net curtains with tiny edges and a two-inch insertion. The net is finer in design and the heavy cluny is discarded for better thread lace, yet prices vary little from last year. Then there are curtains with plain grounds and woven borders which suggest German influence; while some of the copies of old lace borders, on plain net, are so well done that the beauty of effect wins pardon for the imitation. Another imitation worthy of acceptance is a narrow insertion and edge of venetian point lace, which is made by machine on curtains of plain net.

A hand embroidery which has the appearance of lace is that which decorates a new style of net curtain. It resembles shadow embroidery to some extent, and is done with soft, flat threads of silky cotton. The design is first outlined and then entirely filled in with a sort of darned work. These curtains have a delicacy that suggests expense, yet they are less in price than many which have heavy cluny embellishment. They are finished with a simple hem in order to keep their effect in lightness.

DAINTY ACCESSORIES

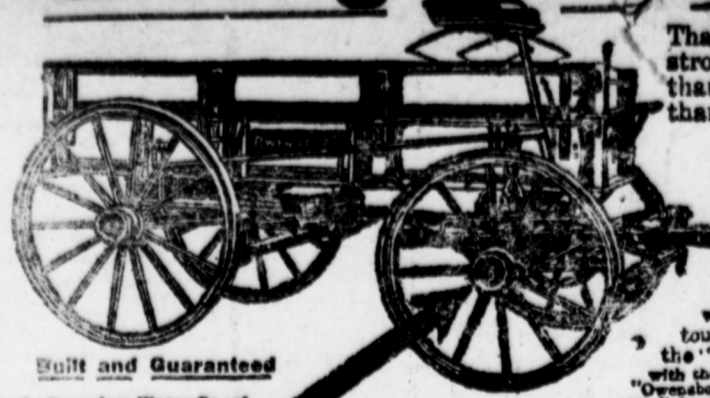

The group above shows some dainty furbelows which may be made from the new embroidered chiffon ribbon. This comes in many different dainty colors and is embroidered in white with a plain chiffon edge. This edge is shirred and wired to form the butterfly wings, the body being made of soft-tone silk or satin which has been tuckered and padded to the required shape. The little cap is of the embroidered and plain chiffon, with ruffle lace.

Laced Boots Little Worn.

Laced boots just now are a negligible quantity. They are worn only on the tennis court and yacht's deck—with heelless soles of rubber. All boots for general and formal wear have beautifully fitting buttoned tops, and most of them have high heels also. The gay tailleur of the season does not accord with "sensible" footwear and the boots positively must be dainty, trim and more or less frivolous to give the correct ensemble.

Strong In the Hub

That's the kind of a wagon you want—strong in the hub. No wagon is stronger than its wheels, and no wheel is stronger than its hub. Look at that hub you get on

OWENSBORO

Made of extra select, bone dry, white oak butt seasoned through and through and saturated with pure linseed oil before painting. With the toughest, hot glue dipped, A Grade spokes driven in, the "Owensboro" hub becomes one solid piece, which, with the many other features, makes the "Owensboro" wagon the strongest, safest, lightest running wagon made.

Built and Guaranteed

By the Owensboro Wagon Co., of Owensboro, Ky., which puts back of every one of its great plant and 30 years' reputation of honest wagon building.

Come See the "Owensboro" Here

Come and see the "Owensboro" just as it is, ready for you to hitch your team to and drive away in, with more wagon value and wagon satisfaction for your money than the owner of any wagon unless it's an "Owensboro."

Hints From France, Where Its Preparation is an Art, Will Be Found of Much Value.

There is an art in preparing salad. A French chef accuses Americans of ignorance concerning it.

He says the leaves are seldom treated properly before being put in the bowl. He advises the following:

Salad leaves should be inspected carefully, with each faded or bruised spot removed.

They should be washed in four waters to insure perfect cleanliness.

Then all should be placed in a perfectly clean cloth.

Gather this cloth by the four corners and shake it until no water sprays from the leaves.

Put them in a cool place until it is time to serve the salad.

Then remove the leaves from the cloth and dry each one carefully.

Then place the shredded large leaves upon them.

Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Use two tablespoonfuls of oil, and then pour a little vinegar upon the oil, as it mixes better this way.

Twist and turn the lettuce until they are all covered with dressing.

No mustard should be used on a delicate green salad.

WITH THE CHICORY SALAD

Variety of Dressings, Any of Which Will Do to Give Finishing Touch to Delicious Dish.

There are three varieties of the barbe to be found in our markets (perhaps it is better known to most of us as "chicory;" in some localities it is "goat's beard" or "monk's beard"), but they all belong to the endive family. Barbe is the pale green variety, blanched is the white loosely curled, and witloof is the plunkish curled solid heads.

The proper dressing to serve in this salad is a French dressing, but any of the following may be used:

Dressing Mandalay.—To a good French dressing add one tablespoonful of Mandalay sauce, a teaspoonful of chopped olives, juice of a small onion, teaspoonful of finely chopped chives.

Mustard Sauce.—Chop a half green pepper and a quarter of a small cucumber fine, after removing seeds, add to a half cup of mustard dressing and after mixing add a quarter cup of thin French dressing.

Sauce Violette.—To a half cupful of French dressing add a teaspoonful of moutarde violette de brive, mix well, cut the salad into half-inch lengths and garnish with olive rings.

Chicory and endive, besides being salad agents, may be boiled in clear water until tender, drained and served with any of the cream sauces.

Rice Croquettes.

If you try this recipe you will pronounce it very satisfying, especially at this time, when the price of meat is so high. When boiled rice is served be sure not to cook it too much. Of this take two cupfuls and put it on the fire in a double boiler, add to it one gill of milk, salt and pepper to taste, one teaspoonful of onion juice, four grates of nutmeg, the grated rind and juice of half a lemon, one tablespoonful of grated cheese, and the same of chopped parsley. Boil three-quarters of an hour, then stir in the beaten yolk of one egg. Turn out on flat dish to cool. When cold enough to handle easily form into croquettes, dip into beaten egg, then in fine bread crumbs. Fry in deep boiling fat. Serve very hot, with or without tomato sauce.

That Scrap of Cheese.

Whether it be cream cheese, the snappy variety, Roquefort or any other variety, do not throw it away! Mash it with a fork and add it to that little bit of French dressing left from last night's salad course. Add also a generous dash of paprika, and if this does not make a sufficient quantity, add out-soup. It sounds like an awful mess, but really is most delicious if added to the ordinary chopped cabbage and celery, a spoonful of which placed on a crisp lettuce leaf, to which is added a slice of tomato, makes an attractive and appetizing salad.

White sheep give more wool than black sheep—there are more of them

REMINGTON stenographers do more of the world's work than other stenographers—there are more of them.

Nature only knows why there are more white sheep than black.

All the world knows why there are more Remington operators than others.

REMINGTON is the machine in which the most operators have confidence—and the machine which gives them the confidence to make good.

12,500,000 Remington letters mailed in the United States every business day in the year

Isn't that the answer to the question, "which machine?" for your office?

Throughout the world Remington is a synonym for typewriter efficiency. It is the voice of the business world.

Loss of Water With Age.

The slow but sure loss of water with age has been noted in the tissues of rats and other animals. There is more water in the bodies of young animals than in adults, and the quantity of nitrogen and phosphorus they contain also diminishes with age.

Two Opinions.

When he heard some one say: "When a country is ready for war all I—I can't stop it." Brother Williams made this comment: "Well, one of these days I—I will stop 'de folks dat make war, an' Satan'll make um hop high on de hot pavements."—Atlanta Constitution.

Gunpowder and Dynamite.

While both gunpowder and dynamite are explosives, they fall into different structural classifications. Gunpowder is a nitrate mixture, whereas dynamite is a nitro compound—that is, the former is a combination of nitrogen solution mixed with other ingredients, and the latter is a compound of nitro-glycerin absorbed by a porous inert solid material.

Birds in Panama Canal Zone.

The bird resources of the canal zone evidently are of much importance. Possibly if they are properly conserved they will become one of the valuable assets of the United States. Having permitted so much reckless bird slaughter in this country that insect pests are increasing at an alarming rate it would be well to take care of the birds that have been added to our national possessions by reason of the acquisition of a section of Panama.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Morning Light Strongest.

The morning light is from ten to thirty per cent stronger than that of the afternoon, varying with the season. The light-transmitting properties of different kinds of glass vary greatly. Thus the loss of light from glass as compared with outdoor light ranges all the way from thirteen to thirty-six per cent or more. The practice of lapping the panes causes an average loss of light of about eleven per cent. The transmission of light naturally increases as the angle of the roof more nearly coincides with a right angle to the sun's rays.

MAKE THESE AT HOME

BETTER FLAVORINGS THAN CAN BE PURCHASED.

Rose Leaves Cooked With Sugar Until It Jellies Is One of the Best—Ginger Extract Little Trouble to Prepare—Vanilla.

When roses are in bloom those who have gardens can make a delicious jelly from the petals for flavoring cakes, puddings or sauce.

The rose leaves must be laid on trays to dry, otherwise they will mildew before a sufficient quantity are ready. Put the petals into a preserving kettle with just enough water to cover and cook until they are every one tender. Then measure and cook with sugar, pint for pint, until it changes to a thick jelly. A teaspoonful is enough to flavor any dish.

Rose Flavoring.—Fill a bottle with rose leaves, crowding in as many as possible. Pour in pure grain alcohol, so the petals are covered, and cork tightly. Set away in a cool place for several weeks. Then strain and the flavoring is ready for use.

Ginger Extract.—Ginger root is cheap now, and if the extract is made at home one can at least feel it is pure. It is no trouble, because you just cover two ounces of ginger root, bruised well, with half a pint of pure grain alcohol.

Vanilla Essence.—Cut three vanilla pods into shreds and put into a bottle, covering with half a pint of good brandy. Cork tightly. Shake occasionally during the two months the bottle should stand.

Strawberry Extract.—This is a most delicious extract. Fill a glass jar (quart) with large ripe berries and cover with good brandy. In a couple of weeks strain through cheese cloth and pour into small bottles. Cork them tightly and store in a cool, dry place.

Lemon Flavorings.—When only the scrub of a lemon is needed, first scrub it and wipe it dry. Then grate off the yellow rind carefully so none of the white goes in, because this gives a bitter taste. Put the grated rind into a small bottle, pressing it down well. Cover with pure grain alcohol. Set away for three weeks, then strain, and the extract is ready for use.

Raspberry Vinegar.—A teaspoonful of raspberry vinegar added to a glass of water makes a most refreshing drink. When raspberries are at their best put two quarts into a jar or crock (must be earthenware) and cover with one quart of good elder vinegar. Cover closely and leave for two days. At the end of that time wash the berries and strain off the liquid. Pour this over another quart of fresh berries and set aside for two days. Then strain and put the liquid into the preserving kettle, allowing one pound of sugar to each pint of juice. Cook gently for ten minutes. Skim, strain and bottle.

White Marks. White marks can be removed from the top of a table and it can be made to look like new in the following manner: Slightly dampen a piece of wadding with methylated spirit, over which place a piece of white linen rag; screw round at back so as to form a portion to hold with, then apply with a circular motion where the marks are, rubbing gently, always in the same direction, until the marks disappear. Then rub well with a dry, clean cloth, after which polish with a good furniture cream. On no account must the spirit be put directly on the linen, but on the wadding, which cover with the linen before using.

Well-Cooked Prunes. To preserve their rich, fruity flavor, do not boil prunes. Soak them over night in cold water to cover them, then take them out and boil for fifteen minutes, adding sugar. Put in the prunes and let them merely simmer for half an hour. Some cooks simply pour boiling hot water over them and let them stand on the back of the stove a few hours. A new flavor can be given by adding a few slices of lemon. Another method is to cook them with a bag of spices.

New Walnut Recipe. If you are fond of walnuts try roasting them for a change and you will not care to use them raw again. Shell the walnuts, put them in a pan with about one teaspoonful of butter to a cup or more of the nuts. Sprinkle with salt and place in a moderate oven, stirring occasionally to prevent burning. Do not allow them to become brown, as this spoils the flavor.

To Serve With Spring Lamb. By scalding the mint before adding sugar, salt, vinegar and juice from half a lemon—a finer flavor will be procured. It can also be bottled and will keep for some time—serving preparing it each time when desired.

Eggs You'll Like Better. Often when boiling eggs the white comes through the shell and spoils the taste of the egg through its appearance. This may be prevented if a teaspoonful of salt is put into the water before boiling.

Cleaning Stone Steps. When cleaning stone steps and hearths mix the white hearthstone or red ochre with thin starch instead of water. This causes it to stick to the stones, and it will not be washed or worn off so quickly.

POUFF! AH-LA-LA-LA

By MARIE BEAUMARSCHEFF.

(Copyright.) Madame had locked her son in a room. Such a son! Such a mother! Emil Jean Marie Lefebvre wept and was chastised at the age of twenty-one. Madame la mere—buxom, irate, huge—was competent to manage any one—even a gendarme if need be.

The cause? A miserable—pouff!—the scum of a milliner's daughter down the street, she of the hair resembling carrots, and the atrocious freckles. Mon dieu! and it would seem the more freckles, the more love.

Bien! Madame would attend to all—first to Emil Jean Marie; afterward to the bold mix; all—all in good time. Parbleu! What would you? To have a girl come to the house every week—every week, attend you!—to collect a bill for a bonnet not yet worn! True, madame had possessed it a year; but what then? What with its lues—yellow and pale pink—it was not possible to wear it so soon after the death of monsieur. For madame's husband had died during the year, and so she had continued wearing her old black hat.

Who would expect anything different? A beloved husband in his coffin, the very thought of yellow and pale pink was odious—odious for many days to come. Meanwhile madame had been constantly reminded of the price of her unworn bonnet.

Can one never trust the ungrateful children? Ah, the tortures of motherhood! First the agony of the birth; then the rearing of the infant, the fear that it will not live, the continued and eternal vigilance—for what? To have an ingrate of a son answer a summons to the front door every week, like a rabbit run out of its burrow, and fall in love with the daughter of an ex-orbitant milliner—a daughter presenting a bill—as if she were wound up regular to appear once a week like a mechanical toy!

To think that he should be so unlike his brother Paul Baptiste—Paul Baptiste, who knew not one woman from another except when served by one at his dinner! A fine son; so silent—so honest—so dutiful, who had eclipsed all by wedding one of the seigneur's Felice. The eldest one it was, Antoinette—she who had always had epileptic fits—so sad!—and only four teeth—but a portion of five hundred francs. Ah, bon dieu! there was filial devotion for you—an example for all mothers to admire!

And Emil Jean Marie! Have you not heard, then? He is no longer a son, but an ingrate, an outcast, a pariah! His mother's heart is broken as well; even the thought of Paul Baptiste and his wife will not console.

It is like this: Madame locks Emil Jean Marie in her room. "Never," declares she, "shall you come out until you promise to forget this pauper of a milliner girl, who has not a sou to her name. Never—never—never!"

"If all were like you in making payment for what they purchase, it is small wonder that she is a pauper." This atrocity from one's own son!

Then all is quiet. Presently madame goes downstairs. She strolls in the garden at the side of the house; she becomes calm—then pensive. She plucks flowers and sniffs in deep breaths of sunshine and air. She reflects that it is as well to punish sons once in a while, as le bon dieu knows how men are all born to be lords, and forever ordering women about as soon as they are married.

"It is only during their youth that they are submissive. Men are like kings of beasts," soliloquized madame, complacently reviewing her life with the departed monsieur. "Ah! he was like unto a noble lion when roaring his desires: 'Blanche, fetch my shoes—Blanche, carry the hamper.'" Madame wept.

A footstep sounded. It stopped in front of the house. Doubtless some stupid ox of a huckster. Madame paid no heed; she continued her gentle reveries. It was a romantic moment, full of sentiments of the past. Presently, however, madame bethought her of her uncooked dinner, and she sauntered around toward the front. Some one was passing by—some one—madame screamed.

"It was the milliner's daughter—on her head the yellow and pale pink bonnet! Madame grasped the stone post for support. The girl bowed.

"Behold me, madame. I wear the hat, it is true. I am here, but I return this time with it on my head, and you may also reassure yourself on one point: your son—such a baboon! Do you think I would look at him? La-la-la! I would as soon wed a blue mandril! To him I have made all the blandishments only to endeavor to secure the money owed. To him I promise all my soul, if he will but throw me down the hat from madame's room. Now, go and release your grand bebe. Who would have him, save the other seigneur's Felice?—pouh!"

"As for the promise to meet him at the Moulin Rouge—so!—my commitments. I am married since last week; yes, I am married, and to no baboon. And no more will Emil Jean Marie see of me. La-la-la-la-la!" And she walked away, wishing her skirts.

What are sons? Ingrates, ingrates—that is, some sons. And never will madame forgive the insult put upon her by her Emil Jean Marie. And as for him, he has learned well the lesson that all men should learn, and forever remember, of the valuation of a pretty bonnet, and of its price.

FIND PROFIT IN OLD SYSTEM

Georgia Farmers Re-establish Smoke-houses of Ante-Bellum Days and Are Making Money.

A number of farmers in Brooks county, Georgia, have been going back to methods once common, but which have been superseded of late years, to their own considerable profit, and to the advantage of certain consumers. These farmers objected to the commercial system under which they were receiving but seven and eight cents a pound for the pork which they raised, while they saw the ham and bacon of commerce retailing in their own markets for 25 cents a pound. They resolved to re-establish the ante-bellum smokehouses on their farms and immediately carried the resolution into effect.

Through co-operation they have commenced marketing their products in the finished form, and are building up an extensive business. They find that the profits which they make from curing their own meats are relatively larger, considering the time and expense involved, than those which they were receiving from marketing hogs on the hoof.

The remarkable thing about this profitable experiment is that it has not been worked out in any of the grain centers or near any of the country's great markets, but in a remote county in the extreme southern part of Georgia, in a "one crop" section, and that crop cotton.—Marion Times-Tribune.

MAYOR OBJECTED TO "GRILL"

Incident at Recent "Gridiron Dinner" at Boston That Has Its Humorous Side.

They had a kind of gridiron dinner in Boston recently—one of those farcical banquets in which everybody is grilled. But it seems that Mayor Curley belied his Irish blood by proving unable to "stand the grill," and left the dinner in a rage. A painful impression was left by the incident, and the Boston papers agree that Boston isn't really adapted to gridiron dinners.

This seems to be natural enough, but the funny fact is that Boston was the place of origin of these "spoofing" and farcical dinners. The old Papyrus club invented them thirty or forty years ago and carried them on for many years before the Gridiron club of Washington took up the idea and developed it into something richer and stronger.

The Papyrus jokes were always directed at new members or guests, and many a staid Bostonian has found himself the astonished focus of fantastic "compliments" that made his blood run cold, or mock denunciation that would have fitted Judas Iscariot or Benedict Arnold, and of tales and charges that were abominable. Boston survived these—but possibly Brother Curley was never "entertained at the Papyrus."—New York Mail.

Men Most Subject to Deafness. According to a French statistician, males are more subject to aural diseases than females, and out of every seven middle-aged persons there are two who do not hear so well with one ear as with the other.

In every thousand children under fifteen years of age four per cent show symptoms of ear disease, and six per cent a marked deficiency in hearing power.

The liability to disease increases from birth to the age of forty, and then begins gradually to decrease as old age advances.

Out of the total number of cases subjected to surgical treatment in France in one year it is estimated that about fifty-seven per cent were cured and thirty per cent permanently improved.

Test for Mental Deficiency.

A Belgian physician, Doctor Demoor, has been making observations on the capacity of different people for judging which of two weights is the heavier, and has satisfied himself that, while ordinary people, especially children, fail to appreciate a small difference, the reverse is the case with the imbecile, idiotic and half-witted. He prepared two bottles, differing in size, partly filled with a heavy mineral but covered all over with black paper and exactly equal in weight. These he handed to 380 children of from six to fifteen years of age. Of these 370 judged one bottle to be the heavier. The other ten said the two were the same weight. These ten children were all abnormal or degenerate.

Studied Insult.

"I wish," said the waiter who had been serving the man with the hard face and the pert looking chorus girl, "I could think of some way to get even with that fellow. He complained about everything I put on the table and growled about every move I made."

"What did his bill amount to?"

"A dollar and ninety cents."

"And how much money did he hand you?"

"A two-dollar bill."

"It's easy. Have it in two nickels when you return the change."

Too Complex for an Ordinary Mind. "Only one man in ten thousand clearly understands the currency question!" declared old Uncle Pogy. "I am sure of it, boys that is just about the proportion of the people I talk with about it who agree with me."—Kansas City Star.

REVEAL SECRETS OF OCEAN

Scientist Has Invented New Method of Sounding Depths With Accuracy—Submarine Monsters.

The prince of Monaco, himself a celebrated oceanographer, has presented before the Academy of Science a paper in the name of another French savant, Alphonse Berget, showing a new method of sounding sea depths with great accuracy, no matter how winding the course of the sounding line might be in reaching the bottom.

The new sounding apparatus invented by M. Berget is based on the rise of mercury in an instrument similar to a thermometer, except that the rise of the mercury is caused by pressure instead of heat. The inside of the glass tube wherein the mercury is placed is lined with silver, which is eaten away by the mercury up to the point where the latter is forced by the pressure of the water. The apparatus used is graduated beforehand by means of hydraulic pressure.

Another new fact in oceanography pointed out to the savant assembly by the prince of Monaco was a discovery made by M. Joubin, that the further one descends into the depths of the sea the more formidable are the monsters encountered, and the depth at which deep-sea monsters live may practically be gauged by the length of their teeth and their general fighting power.

The prince found explanation of this in the fact that sea vegetation diminishes as the depths increase, and that the submarine monsters are forced more and more, therefore, to live by eating one another, as all other means of sustenance fails, and are armed by nature with proportionately terrible weapons.

RANK CASEY WITH HORATIUS

Comment of Those Whose Opinion Is Worth Heeding Concerning the Two Famous Ballads.

"Casey at the Bat in his own humble sphere deserves to be mentioned as a distant relative of Horatius at the Bridge," said the late Harry Thurston Peck, as quoted by the Little Classics Press, which republishes the baseball ballad.

Literary people are reluctant to see merit in contemporary ballads of "low life," so-called. Casey is really better stuff than his prototype Horatius.

Horatius did impossible things. He licked a whole army single-handed, then jumped into the river and swam across in a 200-pound suit of lead pipe, cast iron and chain mail.

There is no element of surprise in the poem, either, because everybody expects him to float safely across the river with a ton of steel tied around his neck! "And with his harness on his back plunged headlong in the tide."

But Casey is human. He works no miracles. He goes to bat in high favor and springs the surprise by fanning. He put his punch in the last line. He missed the ball but baited out a literary home run.—New York Mail.

Checking Up.

A Providence merchant believed thoroughly in advertising. "I get queer answers sometimes," said he, "when I ask my customers, as I frequently do, what publication they saw my ad in."

"As a rule they reply courteously enough, but sometimes a man takes the question as an affront. One pompous old fellow told me it was none of my business. Another advised me to hire a checking clerk. One languid and nonchalant young man referred me to his valet. But I was worse taken back by a roughly dressed customer to whom I put the usual question."

"What magazine, may I ask, did you see my ad in?"

"In all of them, sir," he replied, indignantly. "Did you think, sir, from my appearance, that I read only one?"

First Leading Article.

May 12 seems an important anniversary for the newspaper world, because some consider that on that date, in 1791, the Morning Chronicle first brought into being the leading article. It was merely a short paragraph, which stated that "the great and firm body of the Whigs of England, true to their principles, had decided in favor of Mr. Fox as the representative of the pure doctrines of Whiggery," and suggesting as a result that Burke should retire from the house of commons. This paragraph was published in the part of the Morning Chronicle where leading articles afterwards appeared, and for that reason is reckoned the forerunner of editorial comments on the topics of the day.

How London Women Vote.

The house of lords, after two days' debate, rejected Lord Selborne's bill for the enfranchisement of a million women. The picked women of the bill are those who now enjoy the municipal franchise. "Enjoy," perhaps, is a word of too sanguine a complexion. Only 30 per cent of the women entitled to vote at elections for the London county council think it worth while.—Saturday Review.

Thinks He Has Made Discovery.

Prof. T. J. J. See, who believes that he has discovered the hitherto unknown cause of gravitation, is in the government service, being mathematician and astronomer in charge of the naval observatory at Mare Island, California. He was commissioned last August as a relative captain in the navy, the highest rank in the naval corps of mathematicians.

CRIME THAT WAS HUSHED UP

For Various Reasons the Police Were Not Informed of a Recent Daring Robbery.

There was a robbery recently at a home in Broadway, south of Thirty-second street, that was not reported to the police, relates the Indianapolis News. Really there was no need to have the police cavorting about the place—the person who was robbed expressed no wish for their assistance, and the stolen goods were recovered.

The person who was robbed was a boy, just a little fellow about eight or nine, or maybe seven months old—it is very trying for an ordinary man to judge a baby's age. And this little person was playing on the front porch of his home at the time of the robbery. He was in a sort of corral about three feet high, with sides of splinters, and having just the best time possible with his toys.

And then the villain appeared. He was a villain with a flat little nose and a fat little stomach, and he crept stealthily up and peered inquisitively through the splinters at the very little boy, and the very little boy peered at him with that air of world-old wisdom peculiar to the very little folk.

The flat little nose was thrust between two of the splinters, and the fat little stomach followed in due course, and then their owner, a little brindle pup, was within the corral. Possibly he was a little thief by nature, or possibly he was a victim of sudden temptation. But anyway, he stole the toys of that very little boy, one by one and carried them over to the front porch of his home next door, where he was having the best time possible when he was discovered and the spoils of his expedition taken from him and returned to their rightful owner.

DOGS AS ARTILLERY HORSES

Proposition Under Consideration in France Seems to Have Much to Recommend It.

The French First army corps is said to be considering the adoption of dogs for hauling artillery. The dogs in question are the big Flemish animals, which are largely utilized in the north of France for dragging milk carts and other vehicles.

From the economic standpoint there is a good deal to be said in favor of the replacement of the horse by the dog so far as light artillery is concerned. A good Flemish dog can be bought for 100 francs, and the cost of feeding it does not exceed fifty centimes a day. The lowest price of an artillery horse is 400 francs, and the daily cost of its upkeep amounts to two francs. In other words, the first cost of the horse is at least four times as great, and it costs four times as much to feed. Moreover, for 100 francs it is possible to buy a dog in much better condition than the majority of the French artillery horses.

After the Forest Fire.

Wallace, Idaho, is still suffering from the disastrous forest fires of 1910, which burned over the watershed that furnishes the water supply of the city. This basin included an area of 2,000 acres and was formerly well timbered with trees from fifty to two hundred years old. These were destroyed by the fires of 1910. The city used to get its water supply not only for domestic purposes, but also for the development of electricity for power and light from that watershed. Before the fires the flow of the stream, at its lowest stages, was never below 1,000 miners' inches. Since the fire the records show that the minimum flow has fallen to about two hundred and fifty miners' inches. Each year they have to get power from steam and to use a considerable part of this power in pumping water. Records of the weather bureau at Wallace show that the precipitation for the years since the fire has been about normal for the region. This seems to demonstrate that the unevenness in the flow must be due to the destruction of the forest cover of the watershed and not to any change in climate or precipitation. The United States forest service has undertaken to reforest the denuded watershed.

How the Boy Scouts Help.

A story illustrating the helpfulness of Boy Scouts to those on the road is related by a correspondent.

"I had a puncture near Farnborough, Kent, a few days ago," he said, "and I was busily mending it when a troop of scouts came along and, to my surprise, the scoutmaster ordered them to halt."

"Can we help you, sir?" he said. "We have motorizing experts in the troop."

"Two very small scouts—who had proficiency badges for 'motor repairing' and 'puncture mending'—stepped forward and sauntered. I am sorry I did not need help."—London Mirror.

Great French Bacteriologist.

Dr. Eugene Dorey, who denies the claims set forth by radium experts that radium will cure cancer, is regarded as the greatest bacteriologist France has produced since Pasteur.

He was born in 1859 and has devoted his life to the study of bacteriology. Among the discoveries to which he lays claim is that of the "cancer microbe." Despite occasional criticism by his brother physicians that his methods are unorthodox, his high position and brilliant record compel attention to him and his views.

ROMAN BATH CHANGES HANDS

Famous Surrey Street (London) Relic Which Was Mentioned by Charles Dickens.

The old Roman bath in the Strand is about to change hands, writes a London correspondent of the New York Tribune. The house in which it is situated in Surrey street has been acquired by the Bible mission, and it has not yet been decided whether it will still be open to the public as a plunge bath or for sightseeing.

The present tenant, Alderman Nolan Glave of New Oxford street, used the bath daily until some two years ago, with some members of the staff of his drapery establishment, as a plunge bath, but for the last two years it has been open only as a show place on Saturdays between eleven and twelve o'clock.

It is the last of the cold spring baths of London and dates back to the time of Vespasian.

Until 1893 it had a gravel bottom, and the sides were of Roman brick. Several rows of these bricks can still be seen round the top, but when the famous Essex marble bath, which adjoined and was fed by the same spring, was closed the marble was taken out and used to line the old Roman bath. Dickens was at one time a visitor to the bath, as readers of "David Copperfield" will recall.

"There was," he wrote, "an old Roman bath in those days at the bottom of one of the streets out of the Strand.—It may be there still—in which I have had many a cold plunge."

VERIFIED GOOD OLD SAYING

Husband's Experience Surely Proved That "Absence Makes the Heart Grow Fonder."

In the American Magazine a husband, who has been married 25 years, tells the story of his experiences. He comments, as follows, on the first parting that he and his wife endured:

A married man is a strange creature. I dreaded seeing my wife go; it was hard to part, yet I breathed a huge sigh of relief when the train started, and before it was a mile out of the city I was holding a reunion with two old chums in a barroom and feeling as if just out of jail. For three days and nights I held reunions, conventions and assemblies, most of the time in barrooms; played poker; stayed up almost all night and had a "glorious time." Then I commenced to wander around town like a stray cat, and to go to our lonely apartment and have the blues, imagining that my wife was going to die, that she did not love me. Then I would read and smoke until late hours.

On the tenth day I begged the manager for two days off and rushed away to see my wife. She was in bed, recovering from the shock of a minor operation. It was a wonderful reunion; I told her all I had done and how lonely I had been, and held her hands and kissed her, and ate my meals off her tray, refusing to leave her even to eat with the other members of the family. It seemed as if I could not bear to be out of the room, and she wanted me always in her sight.

Why Hair Turns White.

Discussing the whitening of the hair, the Journal of the American Medical association remarks incidentally that why the beard grows anew after cutting or shaving is not known, nor why it grows more rapidly in summer than in winter. The real reason for the silvery gray appearance of the hair in aging persons is not because the pigment cells discovered by Professor Mechanikoff have eaten the pigment, but because a new hair coat has formed, like the seasonal coat of animals which assume different colors. It is not true that one's hair can grow white in a single night; despite the myths of Marie Antoinette and the prisoner of Chillon, there is not a single authenticated case of this in history.

Strictly Logical.

Professor Sudbury, who was extremely near-sighted, went to the barber's, sat down in the barber's chair, took off his glasses, and allowed himself to be shaved. When the artist was done with him he did not move, and for a while nobody disturbed him. But other customers began to arrive, and the chair was needed. The head barber, suspecting that his learned patron had fallen asleep, asked his boy to wake him. The professor overheard the order.

"No, my good man," he said, "I am not asleep. The fact is I am frightfully near-sighted. When I took my glasses off just now I was no longer able to see myself in the mirror opposite. Naturally I supposed I had already gone home."

Blood Stain Convicted Them.

A French professor has discovered quite recently a way of detecting such a tiny quantity of blood as to be almost inconceivable. Here is an instance of what can be done. Two soldiers, Graby and Michel, murdered a Mme. Gouin in a railway carriage and afterward washed their hands and dried them on the roller towel in the lavatory on board the train.

The two murderers, frightened by a tiny spot of blood from their hands on the towel, thoroughly washed it and hung it up to dry. Apparently the towel was spotlessly clean; yet Dr. R. A. Reiss, the famous French scientist, was able to detect that the towel had been blood-stained, and so to convict the two murderers.

THE MOUNTAIN ADVOCATE

PUBLISHED EVERY FRIDAY AT
BARBOURVILLE, KENTUCKYW. H. McDONALD, EDITOR
V. C. McDONALD, ASSOC. EDITOREntered as Second-Class Matter February
15, 1904 at the Postoffice at Barbourville,
Ky., under Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

One Dollar Per Year in Advance

The Official Organ of the Republican Party in Knox County.Is Dry Ridge Dry?
We Say No.

The Editor, on the 23rd of October, left this city for the famous Carlsbad Springs in the county, this State, upon his arrival he was rushed across several lines of steel rails belonging to the C. N. O. & T. P. Railroad Company, to a gasoline propelled bus, to the Hotel where he found the real water that Desoto was looking for, he also met the Hotel clerk, who, by the way, is one of Kentucky's most beautiful and intelligent women, who informed the worn out Editor that all the rooms in the Hotel proper were taken, and that he would be taken care of at another place until someone vacated, which was of course agreed to.

The visitors at this resort was of the very best of citizens, some from Kentucky, some from Ohio, Indiana, Pennsylvania and many other places, and it seemed that each had a personal interest in the others.

Well, the routine is about as follows: Drink all the water you can, stopping thirty minutes before meal time, eat all you want, go to the bath room, stay as long as you like, but don't forget to drink water, go to the dining room eat some more, wait two hours and drink some more water, go to bed, dream and sleep until morning then begin to eat and drink as before, and let me say right here that we have seen many eating places, but the best to be found is right at this place.

Well, to break the monotony of the sitting around the house, the proprietor who is as genial as any Kentuckian always is, asked us and a Mr. Williams, of Cincinnati, to go out for an auto drive, and believe me, we had some drive; that Hotel proprietor would make Barney Oldfield turn pale behind the ears if he were to ride behind him. We started from the Hotel, and as soon as the said Chauffeur got enough speed he let the clutch into high speed and never changed it at all, passing pedestrians and teams like a pay car passing a tramp and crossing railroads as though there was only one train a week, and that on Sunday. Well, after going for several miles he came to stop, right on top of the highest knoll in the middle of a farm, where the north wind let go at the rate of about 35 miles per hour, and went away to see his man on foot. Well, when he returned we were so cold that we could hardly get into the car; on the return trip to the Hotel, we finished freezing, and but for the warm reception, and the steam heat we would have been done until at least next June when the weather might have thawed us out.

We are not satisfied with the short stay and we are certainly going back, for the results received in the short stay are wonderful, and we believe that this is the place for the sick, and especially is it a good place for one that likes good things to eat. If we never go back to that place, there is one thing sure that if we should remain here for a thousand years, we will never forget the kindness of these people who run this establishment, and especially the ride we had with the proprietor.

Defenseless and despairing Democrats charge the Republicans with raising the cry of panic. Would they have us stand by like a lot of blooming idiots and watch the town burn up and not "holer" fire!

Have you read the defense of the administration by the Democratic newspapers, or heard it from Democratic speakers? If you have, do their reasons satisfy you? Think it over, has it in any way benefited you or your neighbors? We are not arguing, just asking you to answer the question to yourself. Isn't this fair.

Is it possible that endorsement of the Wilson administration is being asked for only by those who are drawing salaries under it? The editorial columns of the Louisville Courier-Journal and Times are noticeably barren of any reference to the Democratic candidates, and the Cincinnati Enquirer is openly denouncing both the tariff law and war tax measures as destructive legislation, and demanding their repeal.

The Louisville Herald, commenting on the all-at-once activity of the Democrats in bringing Cabinet officers, Senators and Congressmen to Kentucky to speak from a special train, says: "One suspects that the Democracy may have 'smelt a mouse';" "but," the Herald continues, "they will discover it is not a mouse but a Moose." For once the Herald is right; the smell of the dead mouse alarms the Democrats, for they must now face a united Republican party in Kentucky.

THE PRESIDENT AND CONFIDENCE

President Wilson, speaking before the Reserve Board, of the bad state of business throughout the country, said: "My feeling about the present situation is this: The only thing lacking is confidence." Guess you are right Mr. President, but why don't you supply the confidence.

The President continued: We are more nervous than there is cause for, and if we go about business as if nothing were happening, business will take care of us as we take care of it. "But Mr. President, something has happened. You have repealed the protective tariff law and passed on experimental currency law and generally made the future dark, doubtful and uncertain. If it is not your Administration what the people lack confidence in?"

LET EUROPE WORRY

The Federal Reserve Board is just now worrying over providing the gold to pay the $200,000,000 due in Europe to adjust the balance of trade.

If we sell $200,000,000 worth of goods to Europe and buy the same amount from over there, no money necessarily changes hands. But if we buy from Europe more than we sell to it, the balance must be paid in gold. This is what has happened under the Democratic tariff law. Under a protective tariff, we always sold more goods abroad than we bought of it; and let Europe do the worrying over the loss of gold.

RIGHTING A GREAT WRONG

The peace-war tax bill as reported by committee provided for a tax of five cents a gallon on rectified whiskey and twenty-five cents a barrel on beer, but at the last moment our Democratic public servants struck out this odious and burdensome tax on these staple necessities.

Wanted—One thousand subscribers for THE ADVOCATE.

THE DEMOCRATIC DONKEY

So the old Democratic Donkey, has at last been made to render some useful service. Some patriotic Democratic Louisville butchers are relieving the party from the odium of soup houses by feeding the great army of the employed on mule meat.

Kentucky Carlsbad
Springs

Something That Kentucky Carlsbad
Water Will Do That No Other
Water Ever Discovered Has Done

We will take the albumin out of your water in three days, and we are curing all cases of diabetes that drink the water. We will give relief to the most severe cases of kidney trouble in one day, and will absolutely cure any case in ten days. Stomach trouble will be relieved in twelve hours, and we will guarantee it to cure any case in ten days if it hasn't become cancerous. Bladder trouble of any kind will be cured in ten days. It will cure any old sore by bathing in it for two or three days. We guarantee it to cure any case of catarrh of the head or bowels in ten days. If you drink this water for ten days you will be absolutely free from constipation or any organic trouble, as it positively will restore every internal organ of the body in ten days. If it doesn't the treatment won't cost you anything.

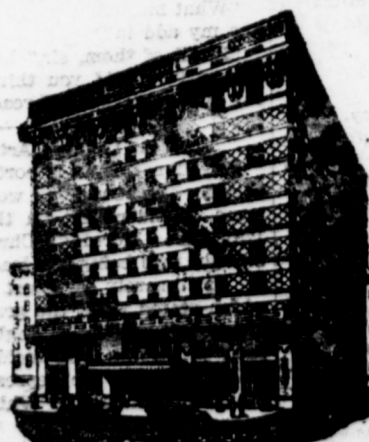

You can get the same results, if it is not convenient for you to come to the Springs, right at your home, as we ship the water with full directions, excepting rheumatic cases; they must come to Springs to get well. Be sure to write for our free booklet.

NOW HER FRIENDS
HARDLY KNOW HER

But This Does Not Bether Mrs. Burton, Under the Circumstances.

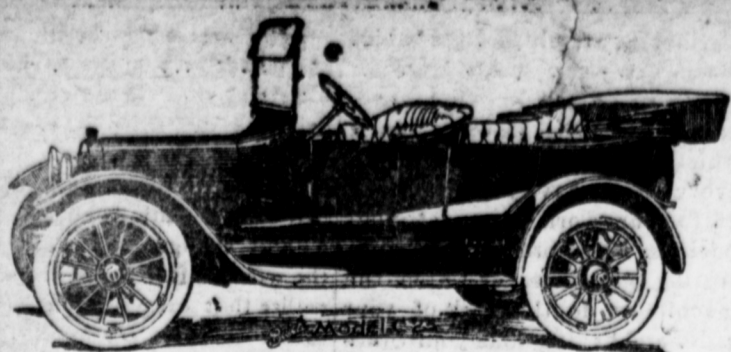

Houston, Texas.—In an interesting letter from this city, Mrs. S. C. Burton writes as follows: "I think it is my duty to tell you what your medicine, Cardui, the woman's tonic, has done for me.

I was down sick with womanly trouble, and my mother advised several different treatments, but they didn't seem to do me any good. I lingered along for three or four months, and for three weeks I was in bed, so sick I couldn't bear for any one to walk across the floor.

My husband advised me to try Cardui, the woman's tonic. I have taken two bottles of Cardui, am feeling fine, gained 15 pounds and do all of my housework. Friends hardly know me, I am so well."

If you suffer from any of the ailments so common to women, don't allow the trouble to become chronic. Begin taking Cardui to-day. It is purely vegetable, its ingredients acting in a gentle, natural way on the weakened womanly constitution. You run no risk in trying Cardui. It has been helping weak women back to health and strength for more than 50 years. It will help you. At all dealers.

WAR! What Is It All About?

HAS the whole world gone stark mad over a very foolish and trivial question? Are swords rattling, cannon rumbling, mailed armour clashing just because Russia wanted to show her love for the little brother—Serbia?

Tear aside the curtain of Europe's politics and see the grim and sinister game of chess that is being played. See upon what a slim, yet desperate, excuse the sacred lives of millions may be sacrificed. Read the history of the past one hundred years, as written by one of the greatest authorities the world has ever known, and learn the naked, shameful truth. Just to get you started as a Review of Reviews subscriber, we make you this extraordinary offer. We will give to you

FREE!

Duruy's History of the World

Four splendid cloth volumes, full of portraits, sketches, maps, diagrams

Today is the climax of a hundred years of preparation. Read in this timely, authoritative, complete, AND THE ONLY CONDENSED classic world history—of which over 2,000,000 copies have been sold in France alone—just what has taken place in the inner councils of Europe during the past one hundred years. Read in these entrancing pages how Russia has for years craftily been trying to escape from her darkness—to get a year-round open port, with its economic freedom. Read how Germany and Austria, fearful of the monster's latent strength, have been trying to checkmate her and how they have pinned all in this last, supreme stake.

The Lesson of the Past

THIS master of the pen shows you the glow that was Greece's and the grandeur that was Rome's. He takes you through the Middle Ages, the picturesque old days of feudalism and the crusades; through the Renaissance up to contemporaneous history, which Prof. Duruy completes in brilliant manner. In the story of the past lie the secrets of today. And you will understand them better when you get the Review of Reviews for a year—for the Review of Reviews will give you a sane interpretation of the events that are taking place with such rapidity. It is not enough to read the daily news reports. Your ability to comprehend conditions, and to discuss them rationally depends on a true interpretation of the meaning and the "reason why" of events. In your mind you must bring under one of chaos—and the Review of Reviews will do it for you.

Looking Ahead

One-Hundred Years

What will the world be like a hundred years hence? It is a fascinating thought, leaves the thinker in a perfect maze of conjectural wonder. The reading world owes thanks to Mr. T. Barron Russell for relieving it of the trouble of thinking for itself by "taking the lid off the stew-pot" in which the mysteries of the year 2000 A. D. are in process of boiling.

We arise in the morning, let us suppose, in April 2014. Our bed room is a circular chamber, corner being obsolete because they harbor dust, and dust is the abomination of the new age. The house wife of 2014 will say that we, her ancestors, were a terribly dirty crew. In the room stands an apparatus which has supplied us with oxygen—fresh air—during night.

Press a button and your bath appears (servants being superfluous.) You have your body speedily with oxygenated water, delivered with a force that will render rubbing unnecessary, and beside it will stand the drying cupboard, lined with moving brushes and filled with desiccated air, from which in a moment you will emerge with the skin dried and electrified. You put on your soft clothes—men and women will dress almost alike, no stays, no tight lacing, no stiff collars, no bowler hats, no leather footwear.

Then, after having turned on the automatic vacuum cleaner to brush your clothes, you descend in the elevator and sit down to your mechanically served breakfast. Coffee and tea are no longer taken; neither do you smoke.

The breakfast is eaten to the accompaniment of the summary morning news, whispered in your ear by a talking machine, which also reproduces the world's doings in faithful illustration!

Is this the climax of bustling? Certainly; but it is done because you are anxious to reserve as much time as possible "for culture and for thought." Your house will be a human rabbit warren of a hundred stories. It will be filled with scientific appliances.

There are telephones, teleautoscopes, kinetoscopes and all other sorts of "scopes" in every apartment. The few servants will be as good as their masters, because the State education has "formed their character."

Out of doors you put a penny in the slot and jump into a waiting motor-car, which even babies in arms may apparently drive; or you step on the moving pavement, which is as clean as a whistle—vacuum cleaners at every corner—have yourself whirled to your work, transact your business by recording and illustrating telephone, or watch the machinery do the work of your trade, and having done your State regulated hours, you devote the rest of the day to the study of pictures, statuary or rare books.

When a man has amassed a competency the State steps in, divorces him from his occupation and forces him into idleness, so that he may not become a Piermont Morgan and organize a trust. What a reward for talent and ambition! Every worker has a share in the business which he is engaged; wherefore there is an end to "ca'canney" and strikes.

Flying machines, built for one or two, will be popular for mountain-top, non-alcoholic picnics; ships driven by wireless force will cross the Atlantic in a day, so that you may breakfast at the Savoy and dine at the Waldorf-Austria; the ships will skim over the water and not plough through through the waves; trains will go 200 miles an hour to the seemingly endless suburbs.

The trains do not stop. No, all you do is to step off your train at the station on a moving platform which will gradually slow down and then let you down easily; goods will be forwarded on moving platforms connecting the great centres of commerce; book-keepers will disappear because their work is performed by combined adding machines and typewriters no more drains; garbage destroyers in every house; wireless electric lighting; wireless cooking; Canada the richest and most populous country in the world; coal dug from the ocean and the ocean levied upon for its water, which is to be turned into oxygen and hydrogen, and thence into power; gold and silver and precious stones to be mined from the ocean bed.

The Government of the country and the making of its laws will be in the hands of specialists. Lawyers, specialized lawyers will make the laws; lay juries will be non-existent; and—wonders of wonders—successful litigants will have their costs paid by the State.

Hypocrisy.

Hypocrisy is a term that is applied to people, that denies the truth and fails to fill their promises to men, and also to God. Thence the term, hypocrite, is applied to such persons.

Hypocrisy is a thing that seems to be practiced more or less by all people, as we were born in sin it takes some little effort to resist such trials. If we do not resist such things, and cast them behind us. We are considered in one sense as a rogue! We would be stealing from our own character, and degrading our lives. We would be disobeying the great Commandments of God, and striking our name from the Book of Life. God says, "Blessed is he that hath power in the first resurrection, for the second resurrection hath no power."

The workings of hypocrisy is not the gift of God, but the evil spirit that was born in us. I have heard said, that if we did not run our business that the devil would run it for us! We should be careful about filling our engagements, as the slightest disappointment to other people causes them to look upon us with envy, and causes one to be called a hypocrite.

The devil will tempt you to misrepresent the things of christian life but you should strive on against such evils and then the way becomes easier for us. We should be careful to obey the great Commandments of God, and thence we will be casting hypocrisy behind us.

T. E. Parrott,

Every time we make a promise and do not keep it, or pretend to be something that we are not, we are living lies, and living a lie is hypocrisy.

If we could only understand the real value of truth and honesty what a great change there would be in the world. But we do not seem to realize that everytime we make an excuse for anything we do or say wrong, that we lie to God, the world, and to ourselves.

God knows better and will not accept excuses, we ourselves are not deceived, and the world, though it may be deceived at first will sometime know, then why should we make excuses.

Judas loved money better than he loved Jesus. Yet he pretended to love him above all else. He betrayed Jesus and repented as soon as he had time to realize what he had done. Even as we shall repent when it is too late.

Why must people lie or why do they lie? Would it not be just as easy to tell the truth? Are we such cowards that we are afraid to tell the truth.

There is a lesson for each one to learn and that is to be just what we are, and not to pretend to be something else.

Leonora Davis

Prayer

Prayer is the greatest necessity of the human race. We should pray all the time, not only when we are in need of something.

Some people pray only when they are in trouble. They think God will answer their prayer, but he too often can not hear them. Others go on and have a good time, with no thought of God and they do not realize that God, the Almighty can strike them down at any time. They go on in this way a long time, and God endures a long time and tries to get them to come to him; but no, they are having a good time and when they do come it too late.

God wants you to come and be one of his children, and if you refuse it is your soul that pays it. A person cannot pray unless he means what he says. One has to have faith and willpower and then pray for strength. It is not necessary to stand and pray neither is it necessary to kneel. The Lord says, "Watch ye, and pray, lest ye enter into temptation," but he does not say stand up, or kneel and it is not necessary to pray so men can hear you. God is just and he is going to punish people the way he thinks best.

A person cannot succeed in life unless he prays. No man can make a living honestly unless he prays sometimes. So let everybody pray, and pray in earnest.

Arthur Cole.

NOTICE

I will on Nov. 7th, 1914, file a petition in the Knox County Court for the establishment of a public road on the Buckeye Fork on Stinking Creek. Commencing at or near Silas Mills and extending through the lands of Elijah Mills and Peter Bargo, and extending to the line of Hence Gambrel, also amended petition for said road to be extended through the lands of Hence Gambrel, J. H. Gatron and J. C. Sproule to the Clay County line and the Clay Jackson line, said road to be established on the most practicable line and so as to secure the most easy gradings.
